

Qwiggle-gel Brain Molds

Attention SAFE KIDS Coalitions!

My name is Ken Silby. My company manufactures the Qwiggle-gel Brain molds. These are rugged plastic brain shaped molds that make very realistic human brains from edible flavored gelatin. The recipe is easy to follow and all of the ingredients can be found at any market.

The brain molds come in two sizes, the full size adult brain and a small brain (small brain is 1/3 the size of full size).

Your organization has used these molds to demonstrate to children the importance of using a helmet.

The gelatin brain is strapped into a helmet and dropped on the floor. The children see that the gelatin brain comes out intact. The brain is dropped again, but this time it's dropped without the benefit of the helmet—the gelatin brain splatters on the floor.

The children get the full impact of the helmet's importance as well as having fun.

I've been told that the attention span for children and teens is sustained much longer using the realistic brain as a prop.

The gelatin brain can be made in any flavor or color that is desired, and it can be eaten!
